Jack won in sudden death.

The 1973 Zurich Classic, then known as the Greater New Orleans Open, was one for the ages. Jack Nicklaus stormed back from a fourth round deficit to force a playoff against Miller Barber. It took the Golden Bear only two more holes and a 4½-foot birdie putt to secure the title as a crowd of 20,000 surrounded the 18th green. Today, the tournament is held at the TPC of Louisiana in Avondale, a short drive over the Mississippi River from the city.
